PeopleSoft Email Catcher

That sinking feeling.... We've all done it at least once!

Ever had that feeling.... You've kicked off a process in a test system to validate a new feature or as part of a project UAT and it starts to email people with dummy data?

Before you know it, the phones are going wild and support teams are inundated over something that could have been prevented.

At Succeed we strive to take these kinds of worries away so that you can focus on what really matters in your organisation.

We have developed an email catcher add-on that does just that. We provide you with the tools and a new screen that allows you view email content, wording, etc. that would otherwise be sent outbound from your system. Once it is enabled you don't have to remember to 'switch it on' each time you refresh an environment from your live system. No more having to remember to block emails or change them to send to your personal account!
